

Like so many communities across the country and around the world, Sunset Foods has been touched by the coronavirus. We have been made aware that one of our team members at our Highland Park store has been diagnosed with COVID-19. This employee is currently self-isolating at home and recovering. We send our thoughts to our valued member of the Sunset family for a full and smooth recovery.

It's important that we remain transparent with our communities and share how we are addressing this. We were informed on March 30th of the diagnosis and immediately let our staff know company-wide. Following our protocol plan, we contacted a company that specializes in sanitization for this virus. The Highland Park store was fully sanitized that evening.

We continue to follow the CDC guidelines as well as communicate with local health departments to respond responsibly. In all of our locations, we continue rigorous sanitation exercises.

We will get through this together.
